

DARING RIDE WINS STEEPLECHASE FOR LIEUT. ROCKWELL

Capital Horseman Takes
High Honor at Belmont Park.

Lieut. C. K. Rockwell, one of the enthusiastic horsemen of the District, and an official of the National Capital Horse Show, and the Washington Hunt and Steeplechase Association, won the Corinthian Steeplechase at Belmont Terminal Park, N. Y., yesterday, after one of the most thrilling races that any steeplechase course has known in a long time.

Army officers associated with Lieutenant Rockwell at the War Department, today rejoiced in the way he won in spite of early misfortunes in the race.

Contest Is Spectacular.

The contest for the Corinthian Steeplechase was one of the most spectacular races ever decided on a course devoted to amateurs. Bill Andrews, Country Guy and Macedonian ran, but it was the two first named and their riders, Lieutenant Rockwell and Richard Mortimer, Jr., that furnished the excitement.

Bill Andrews was the favorite at 3 to 1. When the flag fell at the start Lieutenant Rockwell shot Bill Andrews to the front and the horse held a two lengths' advantage to the hedge fence in front of the grand stand. Bill Andrews "took off" too closely the jump and hit it. He landed in a heap and with such a hard jolt that Lieutenant Rockwell was tossed out of the saddle. Just as he was pitching head foremost over the horse he grabbed him by the neck. By exerting his strength to the utmost Lieutenant Rockwell pulled himself back into the saddle.

It was a clever piece of "rough riding" and the crowd cheered. By the time it was over Country Guy had had taken the lead and opened up a gap of four lengths. Rockwell was unable to shove his foot into the stirrups, but nevertheless set sail for the leader. By judicious judgment of pace the young lieutenant closed on Country Guy until he was within two lengths of the leader at the last hurdle. Bill Andrews then "hung."

Unexpected Happened.

Then the unexpected happened. Country Guy had been jumping in faultless style up to that obstacle, but he failed to take off properly and crashed through it. Mortimer was tossed on to his horse's neck. Before he could recover, Bill Andrews was in front and entered the last furling with a commanding lead.

But the excitement was not over yet. With victory practically assured, Lieutenant Rockwell began pulling up his horse. Mortimer, who had scrambled back in the saddle, realizing he might steal the race, brought up Country Guy with a rush. Mortimer would have succeeded but for the "railbirds," who, realizing Rockwell's danger, yelled: "Go on! Go on!" Rockwell took the hint and dug his heels into the sides of his horse and set him home the winner by a length and a half.

PAST CAPTAIN STELLE JOSHED BY TEMPLARS

Dinner In Honor of Marriage Is Largely Attended.

The laugh was on Past Captain Joseph G. Stelle, of the Altman Temple Patrol, of the Mystic Shrine, when it was announced at the banquet held last night in the Ebbit that the affair was given in honor of the captain's intended entrance into matrimony. Capt. C. A. Stewart, as toastmaster of the evening, delivered a learned address on matrimony, which made a hit since the captain is a bachelor. Numerous other stunts were conducted for the delectation of the guests and every one was kept in a good humor while the joke was applauded and the laugh went round.

There was a large attendance of members of Mystic Shrines, the affair had been given as one of the regular meetings of the patrol to keep Past Captain Stelle in the dark as to its real significance and the undertaking was a complete surprise.

Among those who made addresses were illustrious Potentate William Hamilton Smith, Roe Pulkerson, Charles Stevens, H. W. Ibel and Maurice Simons. Noble Harry F. Kennedy pulled off one of the best stunts of the evening. A toast was drunk to Past Imperial Potentate Harrison Dinsman, who was unable to be present.

The committee of arrangements included Noble W. Lawrence, Charles Bennett, Charles Waring, G. L. Smithson, P. L. Paylor, E. M. Dodson, A. H. Duckett, and W. F. Holmes.

ENVOY TO REPORT ON PERU SITUATION

Stuart Fuller Will Personally Appear To Tell of Rubber Conditions.

Stuart Fuller, special representative of the State Department in the investigation of conditions in the Putumayo rubber district in South America, will report in person to the department within the next month. It had been proposed that Mr. Fuller's report should be sent on by mail, as he was ill with jungle fever, and it was feared that he might be delayed for several weeks on his trip home.

His purpose to report in person indicates a return to better health, and may point to a report of unexpected importance.

Mr. Fuller investigated the conditions in the rubber district about Iquitos in company with the British consular agent, Mr. Mitchell. The English report was published, supporting in detail the charges of horrible atrocities perpetrated upon the natives by the rubber-gathering bosses. The chief purpose of Mr. Fuller's mission was not to gather corroborative material, however, but to determine what conditions now exist. It has been said that under pressure from Peru the district in Indiana has been mitigated. Mr. Fuller's report will deal with this.

It is highly probable that when Mr. Fuller calls at the department he will have some practical suggestions to make as to how the contractors can be controlled. The Peruvian government is far removed from the rubber district and administrative officials have a pretty hard time of it, some of them falling victim to the easy opportunities to make big money by falling into the ruthless customs of the district.

Sailor Is Commended For Rescuing Shipmate

Edwin H. Harris, coxswain on the U. S. S. Queros, cruising in Chinese waters, is commended by Secretary of the Navy Meyer, in a letter made public today for rescuing a shipmate from drowning. On September 18, while the Queros was at Chikiang, China, D. C. McKnight, a seaman, fell overboard. Harris, fully creased, plunged in after the seaman, caught him when he was going down the second time and succeeded in getting the drowning man to the gangway. The motor boat cloth was tangled about McKnight's legs and he was unable to swim. There is no doubt that Harris' action saved McKnight's life. The Secretary of the Navy call attention to the treacherous character of the Yangtze river, and the danger involved in the rescue.

When Scratched Pimples or Welts
Would Rise. Humor on Ankle,
Legs, and All Over Body. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Centerville, Miss.—"My skin began smarting, burning and itching, and as soon as I would touch it the smarting would run over me almost like electricity. Then I would have to scratch or it seemed as if I would faint if I did not. When I would scratch pimples or almost welts would rise. The humor commenced about my ankle and on my legs, and all over my body. Such a time I had then scratching! I saw where Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment were a cure for what was called eczema or itch. I wrote for samples at once. When I received them I was so I couldn't rest nor sleep a good night's sleep. I used them by directions and got some more Cuticura Soap and Ointment. There were signs of pimples where I would scratch, but when I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment it took all the scars away. It took less than a week to cure me." (Signed) M. T. Holmes, Feb. 3, 1912.

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment. Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. COMBINES LECTURES WITH HUNTING TRIP

The Rev. A. H. Zimmerman Will Speak For Progressive Cause
For Next Few Days.

"Social and Economic Justice," under the program of the Progressive party, is to be the subject of a number of lectures to be delivered by the Rev. Albert H. Zimmerman, a former resident of Washington, who will visit Washington and Frederick county, Md., in the interest of the Roosevelt party during the next few days.

Mr. Zimmerman covered the territory twenty-four years ago, when he first entered the ministry and intends to travel over the same country, shooting grey squirrels by day and working for the Progressive cause by night, delivering his lectures wherever he may happen to have night overtake him.

Until recently pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Utica, N. Y., Mr. Zimmerman was compelled by failing health to return to the scene of his early labors and undertake the trapping and hunting trip for the sake of his health. Anxious to take an active part in the campaign, however, he conceived the idea of carrying on what he felt to be a much needed work in showing the people the true meaning of the present Progressive campaign.
